Eleven Die In Mine Explosion

Bodies Are Found After 14 Survivors Are Led to Safety

AMONATE, Va., Dec. 28 (AP)—Eleven canvas-draped bodies were carried from the explosion-torn Pocahontas Fuel Co. mine at dawn today. A few hours later a 30-man team of federal, state, union, and mine company investigators began a probe in the disaster area—500 feet below ground.

The gas-produced explosion early last night trapped 25 miners in two areas of the vast, subterranean chambers straddling the mountainous Virginia-West Virginia border. Rescue workers, with heavy oxygen tanks strapped to their backs, burrowed through fallen rock, dust and fumes to reach 14 survivors and lead them to safety near midnight.

Pocahontas officials said all but three of the 11 victims had just 5 1/2 hours left in the mine before they would have been laid off indefinitely. The company said it was cutting 70 per cent of its 534 employees from the payroll at midnight due to shortage in coal orders.

Heading the investigative unit which moved into the mine at 11:15 a.m. today was Marling Amkeny, chief of the U.S. Bureau of Mines and top officials of the West Virginia Bureau of Mines, the United Mine Workers and the mine ownership.

Survivors testified that explosion of gases, found in all coal mining operations, sent the shock wave reverberating through the sprawling underground reaches of Mine No. 31. There was no immediate explanation as to what touched off the blast. During mining operations equipment is used to disperse the fumes.

This was the second explosion in a Pocahontas mine in 11 months. A February gas blast at a mine near Bishop, Va., also in Tazewell County, snuffed out 37 lives.

Yesterday's explosion, placed at 6:30 p.m. by survivors, trapped men in two sections. The 14 rescued were led from the automatic coal loading machine section and, following medical examinations, were sent home to joyous relatives.

Funds for Ft. Wood Housing Are Assured

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Army said funds for construction of 1,329 military housing units at Ft. Leonard Wood is assured through release of $107,000,000 for government purchase of military housing mortgages.

The Army said the Missouri project is high enough on the priority list to be included in the Army's share of the funds.

The Ft. Leonard Wood project was approved by Congress last session.

Rebel Fights And Famine In Indonesia

Government Heads Say the Situation Is Under Control

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 28 (AP)—Reports of rebel uprisings and famine reached Jakarta today as Indonesia's Cabinet met to deal with the nation's economic crisis.

Pierce fighting Wednesday was reported in Makassar on the island of Celebes in eastern Indonesia after rebels attacked an army patrol. Government officials said the situation is now under control.

Anti-Communist Darul Islam Moslems were said to have set fire to 19 houses in Rindjuri in West Java after a looting spree.

Shortages of rice were reported in several areas as a result of a shipping paralysis. This was brought on by seizure of the Dutch KPM inter-island shipping lines. In its campaign to win over Dutch West New Guinea the Indonesians have tied up most of the 1 1/2 billion dollars in Dutch interests.

The Indonesian news agency Pia reported acute food shortages in parts of Central Java. Java, the main island and seat of the government, is the most heavily populated area.

In a report from Semarang, capital of Central Java, the news agency said military authorities had taken steps to ease the food crisis by importing 10,000 tons of rice.

The Indonesian Cabinet in special session discussed ways to improve the nation's financial situation. Information Minister Sudibyo told reporters the Cabinet also discussed bartering to ease the food shortages.

Former Vice President Mohammad Hatta, regarded as the unofficial spokesman for Indonesia's rebellious outer islands, charged yesterday that government officials bungled the anti-Dutch campaign so badly the Indonesian people are being hurt more than the Dutch.

African-Asian Group Has Resolution

It Will Also Call For Disarmament, Troops Withdrawal

CAIRO, Dec. 28 (AP)—A committee including a Soviet delegate today began shaping a formal African-Asian Conference denunciation of nuclear bomb tests and foreign military bases.

The anti-Western tenor of the weeklong conference of 400 delegates from 42 nations and colonies was underscored in committee discussions of disarmament and imperialism. Soviet delegates and Communist sympathizers were prominent in the deliberations.

Japanese delegate Kaoru Yasui, head of the conference Disarmament Committee, said the resolution being prepared will call for general disarmament and withdrawal of foreign troops. It also is expected to condemn export of nuclear weapons. The United States plans to send nuclear weapons to some of its NATO allies.

"We think the menace of nuclear weapons is a new type of imperialism and colonialism," Yasui said.

"We are opposed to all tests, including the Soviet Union's," he added.

But he said he regards U. S. and British tests as a greater menace to Japan than Soviet tests. This view is not shared by some Japanese scientists, who say most of the radioactive rain falling in Japan comes from Soviet tests.

The 45-member Japanese delegation—the largest at the conference—has taken a leading role in preparing the nuclear weapons statement. Like many of the others, the group from Japan is frowned upon by its government. None of the delegates is an official representative of his government.

The committee drafting the disarmament proposal includes delegates from Japan, the Soviet Union, Egypt, India and Iraq. Soviet delegate Mikhail Kotov said he should not be a committee member since Russia is a nuclear power. But Egyptian delegates insisted that he take part.

"We must send out an appeal to ban the use of these weapons for war and concentrate on their use for peace," Kotov said.

Lighthouse Crew Safe After Battling Sea

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP)—They're five days behind schedule and two days late for Christmas, but the three lighthouse crewmen from St. George Reef are back safe on the mainland.

The Coast Guard cutter Avoyel, after battling heavy seas for five days off the northern California coast, finally relieved the crewmen yesterday by transferring them and their relief individually by hoist.

Monday, on the first attempt, the cutter's launch was capsized and one seaman was injured in violent breakers around the little rock.

Dog Protects Store But Loses Own Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A German shepherd's bravery in trying to protect his owner's property from a gunman has cost him his life.

The 3-year-old dog, Baron, was shot two weeks ago by a man who held up Robert Nelson's liquor store in nearby La Mirada. Veterinarians removed the bullet, which paralyzed Baron, and for a time thought he would recover.

"But today the vet said he was getting worse, and in pain," Nelson said. "So we had to put him to sleep. I know it was the only thing to do, but still."

Terms Like Increase 'Modest'

Senate Dean Warns His Committee Plans Selectivity in Cuts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) said today he would regard as "modest" any proposal by President Eisenhower to increase defense spending to 40 billion dollars a year.

The 80-year-old dean of the Senate in point of service gave notice, however, that the Senate Appropriations Committee he heads is going to be selective about cuts it makes in nondefense items in its effort to keep the budget balanced.

"I would think 40 billion dollars would be a modest amount for defense," Hayden said in an interview. "We have spent 244 billion dollars on our armed services in the last seven and one-half years since the Korean war. Forty billion is a little above the average but our economy can stand it."

There have been reports Eisenhower will lay before Congress next month a budget calling for an increase in the present 38 1/2 billion dollar defense spending level to 40 billion dollars plus.

This might lift the over-all budget for the year beginning next July 1 a billion dollars or more above the present 72 billion mark. Eisenhower has said some non-defense programs will have to be reduced to balance increased defense spending.

Hayden made it plain he is disturbed about the possibility that some of these reductions will be proposed in what he called "wealth-producing" projects. He said there had been "a lot of loose talk" about possible cuts in reclamation and flood control funds.

"These are wealth producing activities," he said. "They are paying back into the Treasury in increased taxes many million dollars more than they cost."

"People go around saying 'cut out the pork barrel and you can balance the budget.' That's nonsense. These projects more than pay their way. Even if they were cut out, it wouldn't balance the budget."

"Reclamation represented one-fourth of 1 per cent of this year's budget. The Army engineers' rivers and harbors projects accounted for only 85-100th of 1 per cent. Their effect on the overall budget is minor."

Knight Provides Fund For Salary Increase

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight announced yesterday he would provide funds in his 1958-59 budget for a 3 per cent salary increase for 80,000 state employees at a cost of $10,155,000. The California State Employees Assn. countered with a request for 5 per cent.

Short Tempers Expected

Congress Returns January 7 For Long and Busy Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The 85th Congress returns Jan. 7 for what is shaping up as a long, busy and probably angry election year session.

Its leaders expect it to work until mid-July or later, with a few recesses and long weekends breaking the continuity.

For most legislators the July adjournment target is a must, for in the November elections all 435 house seats and 32 Senate seats will be filled and the candidates want lots of time for campaigning.

Up to adjournment time, much of the campaigning will be done in the halls of Congress.

Since the 85th is not a new Congress—it came into being last January and continues until January 1959—all the work it left unfinished at adjournment of the first session last Aug. 30 remains to be disposed of during the coming session.

To that heavy program must be added the problems created by Russia's launching of two earth satellites and its big strides in the field of missiles.

To get ahead of Russia in vital areas of science, Congress will be asked to provide more money for defense and scientific endeavors than the 38 1/2 billions made available for this year.

The Defense Department already has disclosed it will require and additional billion dollars early in the new session to supplement money for the present fiscal year.

The new defense budget is expected to run some billions of dollars above this year's figure. Congress probably will approve most of it, although grudgingly.

Likewise likely to be approved is some form of federal aid for

Thomas Is Given Contract on Bid To Raze Church

The Fifth Street Methodist Church, an old landmark in Sedalia since the horse and buggy days around the turn of the century, will soon be coming down to make way for progress. The building site will soon become a parking lot for modern automobiles.

The contract for the building's demolition was awarded Saturday morning to Earl Thomas, of the T&O Lime and Rock Co., who will also grade the property after the building is razed. City Clerk W. C. Ream said the parking committee expects the work to be completed by March 1. Thomas bid to do the work for $3,350.

Other bids were: Mitchell & Huff, Odessa, $4,977; Fisher & Fisher, $5,000; C. C. Cover & Son, $5,500; and Page Bros., Smithton, $9,332.50.

Members of the church, now called the Wesley Methodist Church, attend services at a new building at Broadway and Carr.

Judge E. W. Couey, said to be the oldest member of the church in Sedalia, couldn't recall the exact building date, but it was built when he lived in Dresden, and he was the only rural boy to attend the only high school in Pettis County during the early 1860's. Selgel Woodward, who is compiling a history of the church, said the present building was the second one to be constructed on that spot.

Symington Runs Again For Senate

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) announced at his home in Creve Coeur, Mo., today that he would be a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate.

In a statement addressed to the people of Missouri and announcing his decision to seek re-election, Symington reviewed his record during the last five years, restating his position on a number of issues which have come before the Senate since his election in 1952, his first bid for public office, and pledging continued "work for the best interests of my state and nation in the future as in the past."

In the Senate, the 56-year-old Missourian serves on the standing committee on armed services, agriculture and government operations. He is also a member of the special foreign relations subcommittee on disarmament, and serves as an ex-officio member of the appropriations committee for defense matters.

In 1956, Symington headed a special armed services subcommittee on the Air Force, and is also a member of the preparedness subcommittee which has been investigating the status of the American research and production on missiles and satellites.

Starting in the steel business as an iron moulder, Symington had more than 20 years of successful experience in various steel, radio, and electrical manufacturing companies before entering government service in 1945. He had established a reputation for rebuilding sick businesses and for good labor relations.

From 1945 to 1952, Symington held several important posts in the executive branch of the federal government, including those of Secretary of the Air Force, chairman of the National Securities Resources Board, and administrator of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The Senate approved him six times for high executive position without a single dissenting vote.

Sedalia Man Plunges In To Find Him

Another Boy Races To House Across Street For Help

The alertness of 13-year-old Robert Harrell and the heroic efforts of Morris K. Roseboom were credited with saving the life of Tommy Spahr, a seven-year-old Kansas Citian who almost drowned after falling into the Liberty Park lagoon about 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Tommy, crippled by rheumatic fever and a hip ailment, always has been possessed by a fondness for water, according to his mother, Mrs. John B. Spahr, Kansas City. Saturday morning he left the home of his brother, Gene Spahr, 1815 West Third, where he has been visiting for the holidays, and went alone to the park to play. Quite naturally, he went to the lagoon.

Robert Harrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Harrell, 1714 South Quincy, arrived at the park about 12:15 p.m. to fish. While riding his bicycle around the lagoon, he spoke to young Spahr who was playing at the cement spillway on the northwest corner of the lagoon.

Robert went to the area of the lagoon bridge and was preparing his fishing equipment when he glanced across the lagoon and saw Tommy disappearing in the water. Robert ran around the lake, stopping at the edge of the spillway, but was unable to see Tommy in the water and doubted if he could effect a rescue alone. He then hurried across the street and told Morris Roseboom that "a boy has drowned in the lagoon."

Roseboom, who lives at 1220 Liberty Park Blvd., was just ready to leave home for an appointment with a doctor, but immediately raced across the street and dived fully-clothed into the near-freezing water. Unable to see Tommy in the muddy, grimy water of the lagoon, he stood up—the water reached the middle of his chest—and started searching the area with his feet. Upon feeling a soft object, Roseboom again went to the lake's bottom to look. At first sighting, he thought he had mistaken leaves and other debris for the boy, but when he touched the clothing, he realized he had found Tommy. The boy apparently had been dragged down by the weight of a brace on his left leg and built-up shoe on his right foot.

Roseboom pulled the boy to the surface, and as soon as they were ashore, he began to administer artificial respiration at the edge of the spillway. His wife, Mrs. Lois Roseboom, called the police. The fire department and Ewing's ambulance service also were notified.

Roseboom, who later said he had never administered artificial respiration but remembered the principle from a first aid training course in Boy Scouts, worked with Tommy for ten minutes. At first, Roseboom said later, he didn't think the boy had much of a chance because his color was bad, his body was stiff, but that as he continued the reviving—and offered a prayer—Tommy showed indications of reacting to the efforts.

Dr. K. L. Holdren, arriving on the scene about 12:40, relieved Roseboom. While Dr. Holdren was administering artificial respiration, Tommy began showing other signs of semi-consciousness, and shortly after the Ewing ambulance arrived with an apparatus for administering oxygen, Tommy opened his eyes for the first time. At 12:53 he was taken to Bothwell Hospital. A hospital report indicated he is responding favorably to treatment. However, he probably will remain in the hospital for several days because other complications possibly could result.

Ordinarily, the Sedalia Fire Department's respirator would have been used instead of manual artificial respiration, but the machine is in Kansas City for repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Roseboom have lived in Sedalia since 1947. He is employed at Pittsburgh Corning Corp., as a machinist. The Rosebooms have three daughters, Donna, 10, Barbara, 8, and Mary Lee, 2.

Firemen Battle Blaze With Bullets Flying

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) said today he would ask Congress to impose the "Jensen rider" on every appropriation bill next year in a move to cut government personnel by 10 per cent.

The "Jensen rider" first was approved by Congress in 1952 and again in 1953. It limited the power of any agency of the government to fill vacancies until personnel in the department fell below 90 per cent of normal.

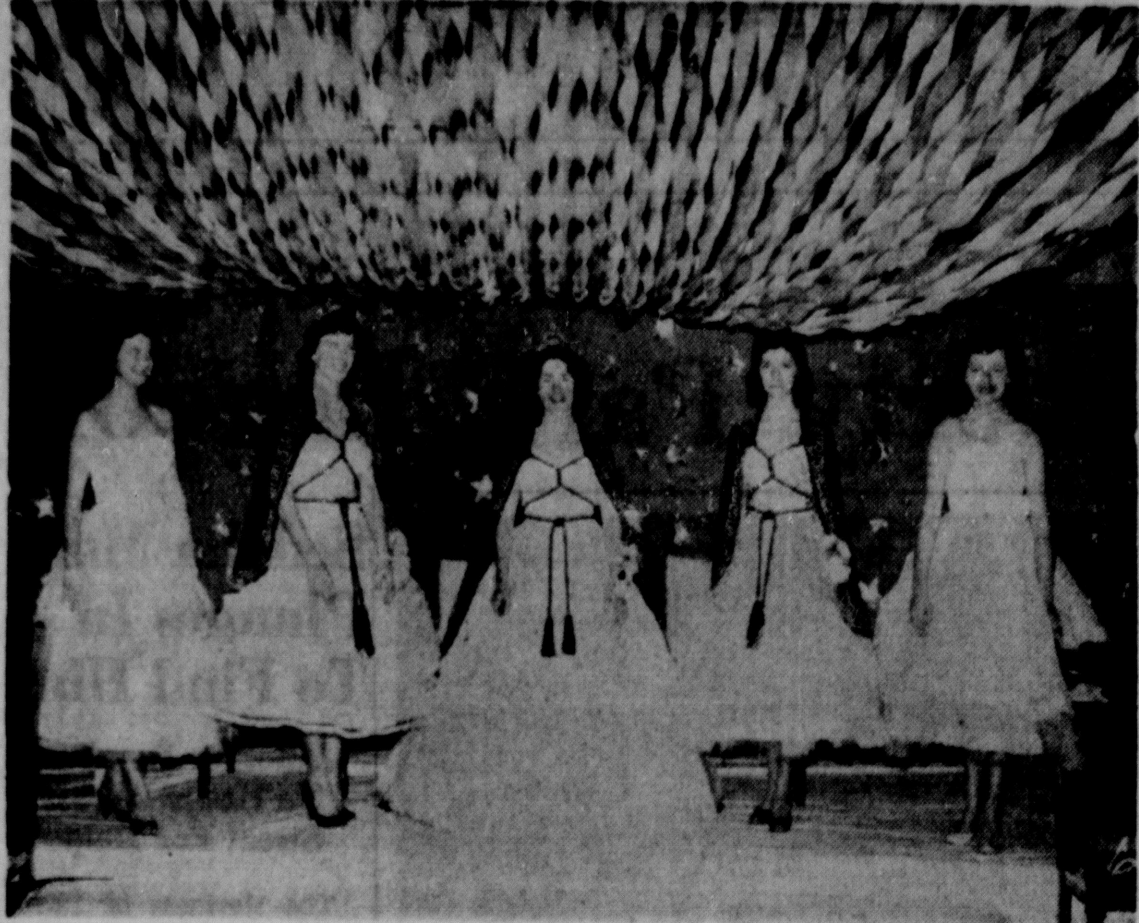

The 1952 and 1953 provisions allowed the agencies to fill one out of every four vacancies. Jensen's new proposal would allow one out of every three vacancies to be filled.

"By this method alone," Jensen said in an interview, "we can save upwards of 500 million dollars in payroll and related costs alone without hurting anything. Nobody gets fired, because my rider applies only to vacancies."

Elks Deliver Yule Baskets To Sedalians

Again this year the Elks filled a hundred baskets and delivered them to needy families of Sedalia as is an annual custom. They have been doing this for years, which is one of the many worthwhile projects of that organization during the year.

It is no little job to fill that many baskets and L. A. Pharris, chairman of the Christmas baskets committee, and members of his committee, Jerry Wilson, Don Richardson, Herb Richards, Les Long, L. H. Durely, M. E. Rhoads, Jr., Forrest Yoder, along with the exalted ruler, Bob Johnson, and a number of other members of the organization, gathered at the Elks Home on Monday night where they sorted the abundance of food and filled the baskets. But they had help from Mrs. Jerry Wilson, president of the Ladies Elks Auxiliary, two other members of the auxiliary, Mrs. W. O. Wilson and Mrs. Jesse Robinson who typed the cards, and Mrs. Les Long, routed the deliveries of the baskets.

The baskets were filled according to the size of the family. For a small family there was one chicken and for larger families two or three chickens. Into the baskets went potatoes, flour, cornmeal, hominy, margarine, canned cranberries, cottage cheese, celery, crackers, milk, and many other things including fruit and candy.

Early Tuesday morning, Christmas Eve, trucks and station wagons gathered around the Elks Home where they were loaded with baskets to be delivered.

It is a big job, getting that many baskets ready and delivering them, but the Elks are always grateful they can take such a big part in helping to make so many of the people of the community have a nice Christmas.

Year-End Tax Tips

Tax-Saving Gifts Must Be Timed Right

This is the third in a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Missouri Society of Certified Public Accountants.

If you are one of those individual taxpayers who is constantly being collared and dollored for charitable contributions, you may save money by paying particular attention to the timing and planning of your year-end donations.

Before paying off on any more 1957 pledges you might have made, remember that you will not receive a tax credit for your charitable contributions unless you itemize deductions on your return. You can't take the standard 10-per cent deduction and a special deduction for donations to charity. You may take only one or the other; so plan your year-end pledge payments accordingly.

Planning Charitable Gifts
If you will be forced to take the standard 10-per cent deduction this year, your best tax move would be to defer payment on your outstanding pledges until after Jan. 1, pyramiding them into 1958 when you may be able to itemize deductions. However, if you have had a better-than-average income year and are trying to bunch itemized deductions on this year's return, you should pay not only the pledges you have made but possibly the pledges you would ordinarily make in early 1958.

Here is an important point to keep in mind as you plan your year-end pledge payments: a charitable contribution will be considered paid — and therefore deductible — in the year when the check is delivered to the charity and not when it is actually cashed.

Property Donations
A gift does not have to be in cash to entitle you to a charitable deduction. It can be in property, and since you can claim a deduction for the full market value of a property gift, it may actually pay you to give away items that are now worth more than they cost.

For example, suppose that you own a few shares of stock that cost you $100 a few years ago. Today the stock is worth $150, and apparently fully priced. If you know you are going to be approached by a church, charity, college or the like for a sizeable donation within the next few months, you might consider contributing these securities before the end of the year.

By giving this property away, the organization you care to favor will benefit by receiving property which they may hold or sell, and you will establish a $150 charitable deduction for your 1957 tax return. Furthermore, you avoid paying a capital gains tax on the profit.

If you must dismiss the idea of giving away a piece of real estate or a block of stock within the next few years, don't overlook the opportunity of building up your charitable deduction by donating such "property" as used furniture, clothing, books and toys to a worth charity. The value of these items is deductible, too.

Prepaying State Taxes

The state and local taxes which you pay are also deductible items that often can be pyramided to give a tax advantage. Some taxes that fall due early in 1958 can be prepaid to give you an additional deduction on this year's federal tax return. On the other hand, it may be to your advantage to delay payments until 1958. Be careful when you do this, however. You may incur a late payment penalty.

Farmer Tax Tactics

While businessmen and farmers can do everything that a salaried worker can do to cut their tax bills, they also have special opportunities to time year-end deductions.

A farmer, for example, who reports for tax purposes on a cash basis, can deduct his expenditures in the year paid. By purchasing his 1958 grain requirements in December, he can increase deductions on his 1957 return. If he borrows money to make this purchase, the interest paid on the loan during the year is also deductible.

A businessman, whose year-end tax plan calls for bunching deductions on this year's return, can time the sale of used equipment to establish loss deductions. For example, by selling a truck that has a depreciated value of $800 and a real market value of $500, a businessman may claim a tax credit for his $300 "loss." If he sells the truck before Dec. 31, he can take this deduction on his 1957 return.

Taxes are only one factor to consider when you are investing — or divesting — but if you had luck this year in the stock market, remember that careful planning of your year-end security transactions can turn errors of investment judgment into dollar-and-cents tax savings. A word of warning, however: the capital gains and loss law is not as simple as some people believe it to be. You would be wise to consult your tax advisor before you begin shuffling your stock holdings to establish losses and gains on your tax return.

Thief's Long Arm Costs Store Owner

WILLIAMSTOWN, N.J. (AP)—The long arm of the law-breaker cost a liquor store operator seven half-gallon jugs of wine and five fifths of liquor.

A thief smashed panes of glass in both the rear and front doors of Wilmer Lane's store. He apparently was unable to reach and unlock the safety chain. He settled for what he could reach—the jugs and fifths, which Lane valued at about $60.

West Seventh, have had as their house guests for the Christmas holidays their daughter, Mrs. Shields Wilson, Mr. Wilson and Mary Shelia, of Buffalo.

4-H Round-Up

OWEN FOX

Pettis County Assoc. Agent

Dates Ahead

Jan. 7, County 4-H Council meeting, Courthouse at 8 p.m.

Jan. 11, County 4-H Officers Training meeting, 9:30 a.m. to noon at the REA Building.

Jan. 18, County 4-H Junior Leader workshop, 9:30 a.m. to noon at the REA Building.

To the 4-H Community Leaders

Here are some last minute reminders. Enrollment sheet and individual enrollment cards are due in the Extension office by Jan. 1 at the latest. (We had asked that they be in by Dec. 1 as it helps us to plan the activities for the new year if we have them in December.)

Membership ruling — Members who were in 4-H work last year must be enrolled in 4-H by Jan. 1 according to the 4-H Council ruling. New members or members transferred from another club or another county may enroll as late as April 1. If there have been any 4-H members joined since you have sent your enrollment to the office and before Jan. 1, please check with us Jan. 1 to make sure our copy of the enrollment is the same as yours.

Final Enrollment — The April 1 check up is the final enrollment that goes to the State 4-H Club office. Sometime during the last part of March, we will write you and ask you to send to the County Extension office a complete new enrollment, as you have until April 1 to drop members who are not doing their work or are not coming to meetings, or who have moved away, and may add members who are joining for the first time or who have transferred from another club or another county.

Do you have your club program planned? It is standard procedure that the program books be filled out and into the hands of the 4-H members (one per family) before your January meeting. Please send one copy to the Extension office.

Club Officers. Does each 4-H Club officer have an officer's handbook? They are to be passed on from last years officers, but if you need more let us know. Also pick up other material needed for the officers. Remind the officers about the officers training meeting to be held Jan. 11 at 9:30 a.m. at the REA Building on North Highway 65.

Project books — It has been customary for the community leader to pick up all the project material for the club unless you have asked someone else to pick it up or have asked us to mail it if not too much. If the 4-H members and leaders do not have their project material they will be needing it soon to start their work. For 4-H members who have enrolled in the same project again this year, they will not need a new book in most cases. They can use the same book. All they will need is a record blank to turn in next September. We have plenty at the office.

Home Furnishings I Books — Our supply as well as the State office supply is exhausted. New books are to be out sometime after Jan. 1. Sow and Litter Circular No. 143 — The State office is in the process of printing a new book. Effort is being made to push this material along.

4-H Junior Leaders — 4-H members who are eligible, enroll in the Junior Leader project just as any other project. A half-day Junior Leader workshop will be held on the morning of Jan. 18 at the REA Building.

4-H Leaders — The chain store dinner and Leaders training meeting will be held Feb. 7 (for both Community and project leaders). Project leaders training meetings will be scheduled through January, February, and March. You may pick up project leaders kits for those project leaders who have five or more in their project. So that we will have the address of each of the project leaders, will you please fill out the form that was mailed to you and return by Jan. 5?

New Project—Buying and Wearing Clothes. We have some project books for this new project which is for both boys and girls. Enroll the members just as any other project (one exception—they must be 15 years old by Jan. 1, 1938). We Extension agents will lead the project on a county wide basis this year. One project meeting a month will be held on Saturday morning beginning Jan. 25, at 9 a.m. The project is set up to have five or more in a project group, so next year the project will be on a club basis with a project leader from the club.

Prospective leaders for next year may sit in on the meetings held here at the County Extension office with the 4-H members. If your 4-H Club does have a leader for the project and have five or more signed up, you are welcome to have your own project group and meet with the county wide group.

The 4-H Club membership goal on the State basis is 60,000 4-H members by 1960. The goal for Pettis County which was set by the goals committee of the 4-H Council is to increase the present membership 10 per cent and have asked each 4-H Club to try to increase their membership to reach this 10 per cent.

Less Shrinkage In New Bill?

At long last the 1957 series of one dollar bills are beginning to circulate in Sedalia, apparently coming from outside sources.

They are quickly identifiable by the phrase "In God We Trust" top center on the reverse side above the letters ONE. This is the most obvious difference from the Series 1935 bills which were released as new currency by the thousands in local banks during the Christmas season.

Close examination of the 1957 bill will also reveal the front plate a fraction of an inch wider; the depth is the same. Also the face of George Washington is slightly fuller. This "full-faced" look results from the use of new presses which reproduce the required fine engraving work on dry paper instead of having to use the damp material of the past.

Although these bills are scarce in Sedalia now and command the particular attention of collectors as a "first" there will be more coming along. The director of the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing says its presses are turning out the bills at the rate of 288,000 a day.

Our first look at the new-look dollar bill was by courtesy of Baxter Overfelt who discovered one in his barber shop cash drawer; another was found for me.

The United States has been a long time getting around to having the phrase "In God We Trust" printed on its currency. The story goes that a preacher as far back as 1860 began to petition for this inscription until finally by 1955 Act of Congress it is required that all future paper money, as well as coins, carry this motto.

The new dollar bill may illustrate quite an achievement in the dry printing process of eliminating shrinkage, but those who come into possession of these bills would appreciate them more if the same effect would materialize in terms of buying power.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Harlem Globetrotters Wow Crowds

By DREW PEARSON

CASABLANCA—When I suggested to the Air Force that it might be a good idea to have the Harlem Globetrotters play before American servicemen overseas during the Christmas season, I was reasonably sure the GI crowds would be big. They were.

But when I looked at the huge barnlike Casablanca convention hall, in which the Globetrotters were to play before a civilian crowd, I wondered whether enough Moroccans would be around to fill it.

This was at 6 p.m. The game was to start at 8:30. At 6:10 police opened the doors and pandemonium broke loose. Several thousand exuberant Moroccans swarmed over the grandstands, swamped the police, even snapped up the players' benches. If Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill had been staging another Casablanca conference I doubt if more people would have jammed the arena.

I sneaked around to a place where we had cached some extra chairs and carried some out for the substitute players to sit on. I didn't have a chance. They were snatched out of my hands. Two chairs were finally found for crown prince Moulay Hassan and his brother, Moulay Abdullah. Other dignitaries had to sit where they could.

According to Dave Zinkoff, Philadelphia sports announcer who acted as tour secretary, it was the most enthusiastic crowd ever to cheer the Globetrotters. They laughed at the Brooklynese of referee John Fox, applauded the long shots

Guest Editorial

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL: No More Fingerprinting. — For several years it has been argued by the government and many of the supercharged spy hunters that it was vital for this country's security to fingerprint all foreign visitors.

The practice lost us friends. It kept many friendly visitors out. It gave Soviet Russia an excuse not to let citizens visit here and learn what lies they had been told about America.

Now all fingerprinting has ceased. Visitors may come without being treated like criminals. The sky hasn't fallen in. And time will prove what was fact from the start: Fingerprinting failed to catch a single spy or subversive visitor in all the years we required it.

Removal of the requirement makes us look a bit more like the land of the free.

Commercial Jet Age

The rocket and satellite age has so transformed our ideas of speed that we're hardly in the frame of mind to appreciate the big advance just over the horizon in commercial aviation.

With "Sputnik" and "Muttnik" racing 18,000 miles an hour and missiles traveling thousands of miles an hour, a speed of 600 doesn't sound impressive. But as an accomplishment for standard, scheduled commercial flying, it very definitely is.

That's about the pace the big jets will keep when they begin flying American and world airlines in 1959. It will represent a jump of more than 200 miles an hour above the present top speed possible in DC-7's.

Flying westward with the wind, the long-range jet transports now on order will go coast to coast in some four and a half hours. The Atlantic crossing will take around six.

But to illustrate how people have been conditioned to fantastic speeds, one man who heard this projected transatlantic pace mentioned said: "Six hours? Isn't that kind of slow? I thought it would be around four."

He wasn't too moved when told the present crossing time is 12 hours. The speed advances that will be made with jets will do as much to accelerate flying schedules as has been accomplished in all the history of commercial aviation to date.

No, what the airlines will be doing will be quite remarkable, however modest it may seem when set against "Sputnik" and "Muttnik." But even they know that they must indeed begin planning now for still greater speeds in the future.

C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, which wants to spend another 200 million dollars for new jets on top of those already ordered, says it's doubtful there will be much point in trying to add a mere 100 miles or so of speed to the performance of the jets now on the way.

"The next plane we get will have to break the sound barrier," said Smith.

That means speeds of 800 to 1,000 miles an hour. And until we're ready for that trip to the moon, maybe that's good enough, even though the Soviet "moons" would still go by us as if we were standing still.

of Wayne University's George Brown, chorled over the antics of Harlem's Chico Burrell, and went wild over Benny Schirtzinger, world champion batonist, who twirled flaming batons between halves.

After the game, the rush to get Globetrotter autographs almost swamped the players' bus and caused consul general Henry Ford and me to get slightly roughed up in the melee. In an area where Little Rock did more damage than Sputnik, I hope that North Africans now know there can be good clean American sports competition.

The Shores of Tripoli
Tripoli is best known to many Americans because of the Marine Corps' famous song "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli." In Tripoli I saw the ancient citadel where the Marines were imprisoned when they stormed the beaches during the war against the Barbary pirates.

But what most Americans don't know is that the Marines and the Navy in those early days of the republic suffered from exactly the same trouble that has hurt the armed forces today—budget-cutting. Just as the defense budget has been cut to the point of jeopardizing the missile program, so the Navy in 1801 was starved by an economizing Congress.

Therefore, when Thomas Jefferson declared war on the Pasha of Tripoli after he cut the flag from the American consulate in protest against the bigger tribute paid to Tunis, the Navy found itself undermanned. To make up for this, a Lieutenant Somers of the Marine Corps sailed the Ketch Intrepid, loaded with bombs and powder, into the midst of the Barbary fleet. The plan was to set a fuse and get away before the ship exploded.

But a snafu developed, the ketch blew up too soon, Somers and his men were lost or captured. Tripoli, since then, has been under various foreign rulers, now is the chief city of independent Libya. But the graves of the Marines are still to be seen on the shores of Tripoli and flowers deck their graves every Memorial Day.

Our Poor Education

Warnings have come from many quarters that America must be careful, in stepping up its education programs to offset the Russian scientific break through, that it does not try to turn out science robots.

What many keen-minded educators are concerned about is that we shall produce trained individuals who, while having a sharply developed scientific bent, shall above all be rounded human beings.

This means that they should bring to their work the insight and perspective of men who grasp values and have a steady awareness of the political, economic and social frame within which they labor.

To some Americans, the placing of this emphasis may suggest that we are already doing a good job of keeping human values and the broad perspective of affairs uppermost—that the danger is that science may narrow and limit our focus.

The truth seems to be otherwise. Many educators feel, for one thing, that the scientists and engineers we train tend too often to be specialists set in a kind of social vacuum, unable to see beyond the end of their slide rule. But there is a worse aspect. The uncomfortable fact is that, as we lag in science, we don't really do a very good job in the humanities and social sciences, either.

It's an old story now, but it is still the story, that students at both the college and high school levels often test poorly in fundamentals like history, politics, economics and geography.

As for art, philosophy and the study of religions, there seems to be even less grasp of these. Education in America appears to be hitting merely a glancing blow in all too many cases. And arguments continue to rage as to the extent to which the students, the teachers, and the educational system are to blame.

We all know we have long suffered a shortage of teachers and that many we have are poorly trained or ill suited to the work. We know, too, that with the countless bright distractions of today many students look in school for the paths of least resistance.

Those who assail the system say it allows the student too much freedom to select easy courses, puts too much stress on practical "how to" studies which an individual can as well learn for himself in other ways, and devotes too much time to "life adjustment"—getting along with other students, the teacher, etc.

However the blame should fall, the point would seem to be that it should fall somewhere. No matter what the Russians do or don't do, we need better education, and a better educational product, than we get today.

Defense Posture

He's a Take-Charge Sort

McElroy May Become Asset In Easing Demos' Criticism

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy may become the Eisenhower administration's chief asset toward softening sharp criticism from congressional Democrats on the progress of the missile and satellite programs.

McElroy, two months in the Cabinet, has shown some signs of becoming the take-charge sort of official many Democrats have said is needed to crack the bottle-necks they contend have let Russia take the lead in rocketry.

Whether Congress tries its hand at shaking up the Defense Department—possibly through establishment of a separate agency to develop missiles and satellites—seems likely to depend largely on McElroy's performance in the next few weeks.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has made it clear the prime objective of an investigation of the missiles program by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee he heads is to push the administration into full-blast action on space weapons.

Johnson has indicated he doesn't care particularly who does the job or how it is done, just so missiles are produced in quantity.

McElroy evidently made a good first impression on subcommittee members when he announced he had lifted overtime restrictions and restored some funds to the missile program.

Several members said they liked McElroy's action in ordering continued development on both the Jupiter and Thor intermediate range ballistic missiles. With one of the competing weapons scheduled to be dropped, there had been uncertainty about the work on both.

If McElroy comes up with some new moves to straighten out the guide lines, simplify Pentagon procedures and get the missile supply belt moving, he could go a long way toward tempering the continuing criticism.

Some critics hailed McElroy's announcement last week that he will ask Congress in January for about a billion dollars in immediate new money.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said this action indicated the defense secretary is "getting the sense of awareness some of us would like to see."

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that before McElroy asks for new money "he ought to do away with the overlapping authority and duplications in the Defense Department and use efficiently the $1,650,000,000 the administration asked for and Congress gave them for research and development."

Sen. Revercomb (R-W.Va.) said he thinks McElroy can get whatever money he needs from Congress. Revercomb said he found within the administration none of the complacency about which Democrats have been complaining. Instead, he said there was a "note of seriousness but no hysteria."

Sen. Monroney (D-Okl.) proposed that Eisenhower devote his full time to being commander in chief and turn over "housekeeping chores" to Vice President Nixon. He said Eisenhower could hand domestic problems over to Nixon while he took personal charge of the defense and foreign programs.

However, Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said he fears any such arrangement would be unconstitutional. He added that it wouldn't be practical to divide up the work. He said, for instance, that one man must make the decision on defense and other expenditures in the budget.

hand is the keeping our glass of water filled by one of the waitresses at the Bothwell Hotel, the gift wrapping and delivery of packages at some of the stores, the paper boy getting the paper right at the door, the answers to questions we need to know in a hurry from the Chamber of Commerce or the public library, dozens and dozens of people in all kinds of jobs we owe special thanks to but we just don't seem to get around to writing them thank-you notes. Maybe it would be a good way to start the New Year off—by making a list as we go along of nice things people do and then sending them a note.—H.L.

It might be well, with the New Year at hand, to look around and see who we might give a special little thanks to for something they have done beyond the call of duty. Things we can think of right off

One woman wrote such a note to the Black and White Taxi Co. of which all the drivers are very proud, because they were given that extra pat on the back. The woman has a back injury and has found when she asks them to drive more slowly for her because of it, they do. They carry in the flowers she takes to friends in the hospital and she summed it up that she has travelled all over the United States and parts of Europe but she has never found a more satisfactory carrier service. They were being helpful without thinking too much about it—and she was being nice by telling them how she felt.

Day By Day

Now once again the ringing of the bells
Sound forth across the winter midnight air,
Some welcome a new year in revelry
While others welcome it in song and prayer,
And some, like I, just let the year come in
At midnight hearing not one little sound
Of horns or bells or guns—just merely sleep.
But when I wake the New Year's here, I've found;
A new day that brings in another year
And everybody has a different view,
But to me, it's like yesterday.
I see no difference in a year that's new
And not one resolution do I make
Nor even for the year ahead I plan,
I only live my life from day to day
And every day I do the best I can —
From some I hear words of unworthy praise
For little things that are God's and not mine.
Like smiles and very often written words,
Without Him I could never write a line;
For merely listening while somebody talks,
For showing interest in my fellow man,
For giving of myself what I can give
And trying to fit myself into God's plan,
Sometimes I'm weary and I wonder why
I give so much to those I'm trying to serve
And then from all about the voices come
In praise I'm certain that I don't deserve;
And so, another year now comes along
That I will live again just day by day,
Giving whatever that I have to give
To everyone I meet along the way.

First, Secrecy Was Scored; Now It's Vanguard Publicity

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It's a disturbing sign of the times when a leaky valve will cause responsible men to recommend junking constitutional rights.

This is what has happened since the valve of an oxygen tank went bad in the Vanguard rocket which was supposed to put America's first satellite into an orbit, causing it to fizzle miserably.

If that one valve had just functioned properly, and everything else had gone all right, nobody would ever have let out a peep about the build-up of news which preceded the test.

But because the valve malfunctioned congressmen, senators and other usually responsible men suddenly reversed their previous outcries against excessive secrecy in our missile program. They began denouncing the Pentagon for too much press agency.

Man-in-the-street reaction, as usual, was more temperate. Mostly it took the form of dozens of oft-repeated jokes. When some of these gags were being told at an embassy party here the other night a diplomat from one of the Iron Curtain embassies put the whole thing in pretty good perspective with the remark:

"I will be happy for the day when communism is so secure in this world that communists can laugh at their own mistakes."

Murray Snyder, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and his news chief, Herschel Schooley, who was on the scene when the valve began acting up, caught the brunt of the attacks for too much press agency on the Vanguard failure.

Being accused of giving out too much information is at least a new experience for Schooley. He is a wise veteran in the defense information field and most of his battle scars are from fighting in behalf of the public's right to know what's going on in the country's expensive defense organization.

At Cape Canaveral during the Vanguard test he was following Snyder's orders to give out only legitimate, non-classified information newsmen down there wanted. And that's all he did give out.

Snyder's side in this leaky-valve-inspired rhubarb is new for him, too. Almost from the day he arrived at the Pentagon from the White House, where he was assistant press secretary, Snyder has been hounded by Rep. John E.

Moss (D-Cal.) for bottling up information.

Since coming to the Pentagon Snyder's big aim has been to try to create a system which would guarantee a steady flow of legitimate news to the public. He has studied the law carefully and concludes that there are only two legal bases for keeping information secret.

One is to prevent military developments or plans from getting out and aiding an enemy. The other is to keep information secret which might injure America's relations with another country if it was made public.

"So if I were to accede to demands that we keep all satellite launchings secret I'd be exceeding my legal authority and be interfering with the constitutional right of freedom of the press," Snyder concludes.

Even Representative Moss is moved to take a new stand for him in this conflict, that of supporting Snyder. He states:

"In a democratic society the people's right to know all possible non-security information cannot be disregarded. Governmental programs stand or fall depending on public acceptance or rejection of those programs."

"There is the implication in this criticism of Vanguard test publicity that the moral fiber of the American people is such that they can be told only good news. This is an implication that I flatly reject."

Ironically enough, Vanguard boss Dr. John Hagen could have taken much of the sting out of his failure several days before the ill-fated test attempt if he had been more frank with the press. At a press conference he was asked what he thought the odds were against getting the baby moon into an orbit.

"I'm not a bookmaker," he replied.

Later it was discovered that he and other scientists had previously agreed that the chances of success were about one in five. If he had admitted this, the public would have been better prepared for the failure.

Mothers Should Teach Child Good Management

"I want my daughter to know how to earn a living, because even though she marries, there is no guarantee that she won't have to help with the breadwinning."

You hear that often today. But you never hear a mother say, "I am teaching my daughter to be a good manager so that she can live on her husband's income, whatever it is."

Since it is so easy today for a wife to contribute a little to the family's income by getting a paid job outside the home, we have come to accept the idea that the only way a wife can help her husband financially is by holding down a job.

Just how false this idea is you can prove by looking at the stay-at-home wives you know and whom you consider to be excellent managers.

By careful shopping, by taking time to cook appetizing meals from the less expensive foods, by sewing for her children, making slip covers and curtains, wielding a paintbrush, etc., a stay-at-home wife can often give her family more advantages than can a wife who goes out and takes a job to bring in a little extra cash.

The wife who decides to work usually doesn't realize how little the family actually gets out of her pay check.

She may count the cost of lunches and transportation and to am work when figuring out what her actual contribution to the family is, but she probably doesn't pay much attention to all the extras.

For example: increased income taxes, more money spent on clothes for herself, office donations, meals eaten out when she is too tired to get dinner, paying to have work done that she could do herself if she had the time.

The cost of a housewife's holding a job isn't always apparent because it is made up of so many little costs, many of them hidden.

So we mothers shouldn't forget that it is still as important to teach a girl how to be a good manager as how to earn a living.

For if she marries and is a good manager she may never have to go to work.

If she is a poor manager the chances are a lot greater that she will have to.

Responsibility For Child's Eye Care Is With Parents

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

It has been estimated by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness that about nine million of the United States' 36 million school children need some form of eye care. Some who need this care and do not receive it may become blind. Others are likely to go through life with serious handicaps in education and psychology, as a result.

Most visual defects in youngsters can be corrected by glasses. However, some may need other forms of treatment.

There are certain precautions which parents should take: Keep sharp instruments away from children; make sure toys are suitable for the child's age; supervise play as much as possible and teach a child never to rub his eyes with dirty hands.

Thus the problem becomes one of avoiding injury, identifying defects as early as possible and taking corrective measures. Awareness on the part of the parents that difficulties in school reflect some eye disorder is particularly important.

September has been labeled "Sight-Saving Month." During this month the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y., distributed a small booklet entitled "A Word to the Wise" to parents who wish to watch for clues of possible eye defects in their children.

Mizzou Scores 83-71 Win Over Princeton

Sooners Edge Buffs In Big Eight Tourney

BULLETIN.
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—The nation's No. 2 Kansas Jayhawks, hard-pressed all the way, got 27 points from the towering Wilt Chamberlain in defeating the Iowa State Cyclones, 55-48, in a semi-final game of the Big Eight basketball tournament before a capacity crowd of 10,200 tonight.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—Cliff Talley and Sonny Siebert each scored 23 points to lead Missouri to an 83-71 victory over Princeton in a Big Eight basketball tournament consolation game today.

Kansas met Iowa State and Kansas State took on Nebraska in tonight's championship semifinals.

Oklahoma, which edged Colorado 53-52 when Joe King sank a rebound with eight seconds to go in the losers bracket opener, will meet Missouri for fifth place Monday.

Missouri led 47-33 at the half after building up a 15-point lead in the first 10 minutes and coasted the rest of the game.

Princeton missed the services of Carl Belz, its leading scorer, who injured an ankle against Nebraska in the first round and was benched for the tournament.

In Belz absence, James Brangan picked up 24 points to pace the Princetonians.

Missouri hit 47.8 from the field on 33 of 69 shots. Princeton had 37.8 on 28 of 74.

The Sooners took their first lead 49-48 with 4:16 seconds remaining after the Buffs had led all the way. Colorado regained the lead on three free throws by Gerry Schroeder but King's shot with eight seconds remaining was the big payoff.

Colorado which led 29-26 at half-time, built up a 21-11 lead midway through the first half as the cold Sooners picked up only two field goals in the first 12 minutes of play. Oklahoma went 10 minutes without hitting a shot from the field during the time.

King led the scoring with 20 points on seven field goals and six free throws while Schroeder was high for Colorado with 19.

Fondy Is Happy About Even Trade for Klu

MESA, Ariz., Dec. 28 (AP)—"Are you sure there is no cash with it?" first baseman Dee Fondy of the Pittsburgh Pirates asked after learning he was traded to Cincinnati for first baseman Ted Kluzewski.

Fondy, a resident of this central Arizona town, expressed surprise and pleasure at being traded in an even swap for the Redlegs' ailing slugger.

"It's also great to get a chance with a pennant contender," said Fondy, who batted .313 last season and was sixth in the National League batting race.

His biggest worry, Fondy added, will be to make the starting team. He noted that Cincinnati already has two fine first basemen in George Crowe and Steve Bilko.

Physician Advises Him to Turn It Down Health Keeps Leahy From Texas A & M Coaching Job

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP)—Frank Leahy's health prevented him from taking over as head football coach at Texas A & M and the school's president said tonight it is doubtful Leahy will be considered for the job of athletic director alone.

Leahy announced in Chicago tonight that his physician advised him to turn down the A&M coaching job being vacated by Paul (Bear) Bryant. Leahy said he would like to be considered for the athletic directorship, however.

But Dr. M. T. Harrington, president of Texas A & M, said "We didn't offer him that. It is a matter for the faculty athletic council but I doubt very much if they will consider him for athletic director. It is a coach we want."

Harrington issued this brief statement shortly after A&M lost to Tennessee 3-0 in the Gator Bowl.

"We regret very much that Mr. Leahy cannot resume coaching. I have no further comment to make at this time because it will be a matter for the faculty athletic council of the college to consider and make recommendation of a football coach to me."

Bryant, who was both head coach and athletic director at A&M, resigned recently to return to his alma mater, Alabama.

Leahy entered Passavant Hospital in Chicago for a series of tests and his physician, Dr. C. J. Barboraka, gave his report today.

"I feel it would be a serious mistake to endanger his health and have advised him definitely against returning to the coaching profession at this time."

Leahy issued this statement from his hospital room.

"I am deeply distressed over

Dr. C. J. Barboraka's decision. However, out of respect for him, I must abide by his recommendation. Being offered the job as head football coach and athletic director at Texas A&M is a distinct and proud honor. It is my sincere hope that they will consider me as their athletic director."

Williams, Hutchinson, Lane Honored

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28 (AP)—Ted Williams, Fred Hutchinson and Frank Lane today were named the outstanding player, manager and executive in the major league for 1957 by the Sporting News.

In naming its No. 1 men of the year into organized ball, the baseball weekly said the word "comeback" might be used to characterize the seven men chosen for the awards.

In the minor leagues, the awards went to outfielder Norm Seibern of Denver, No. 1 player; Ben Geraghty of Wichita, leading manager; John Stiglmeier, executive vice president of Buffalo, outstanding executive of the upper classification leagues; and Richard Wagner, general manager of Lincoln, Neb., No. 1 executive for the lower minors.

Williams, 39-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder, came back with one of his greatest seasons at an age when most baseball people believed he was nearing the end of his career.

He batted .388, and was the oldest player ever to win the American League batting title. This was the highest mark on the majors since 1941, when Williams himself hit .401.

Lane, the trading wizard now general manager at Cleveland took over the St. Louis Cardinals after the Red Birds finished seventh in 1955 and named Hutchinson as manager.

Lane reshuffled the roster, made many trades and revitalized the team. Hutchinson's direction of the team won this tribute from his players: "If you can't play for Hutch, you can't play for anybody."

St. Louis wound up seventh their first year and was second in 1957.

Little Parking Space Threatens Redlegs' Stay In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28 (AP)—Powell-Crosley Jr., appeared tonight to be torn between sentiment for his ball club and disgust with city government as to whether the Cincinnati Redlegs would be moved—perhaps to New York City.

It was over an old question—that of providing more automobile parking space for the fans. It came to the front again when Powell-Crosley said earlier he had changed his mind about always keeping the team here in the cradle of organized baseball.

If a move is made, it was generally believed it would be to New York as replacement of the Giants. The Giants will play in San Francisco next season.

Asked directly this afternoon whether the Redlegs would play at Crosley Field in 1958, he replied: "I can't answer."

He added:

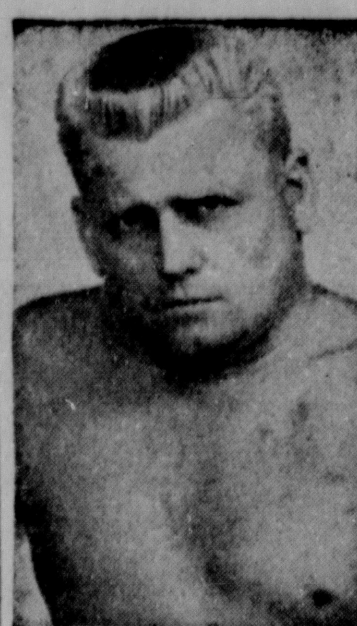

"We are under no obligation to stay here."

Barr, who plays defensive halfback, will report Jan. 6 at Ft. Knox, Ky., for Army duty as a second lieutenant. Lowe, another defensive halfback, and Schmidt, a linebacker, will be enlisted men at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. Their induction dates were not announced although Schmidt will play in the pro bowl Jan. 12 first.

Ford Passes South Over North 21-20

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 28 (AP)—The nation's leading collegiate passer, Ken Ford of Hardin-Simmons, put on a spectacular exhibition today in leading the Southern all-stars to a 21-20 victory in the Blue-Gray game.

Ford completed 12 passes out of 23 for 185 yards and one touchdown.

The flashy 185-pound quarterback, who gained 1,254 yards through the air in the regular season, had the edge today over the North's passing star, Bobby Cox of Minnesota. Cox connected 8 times out of 14 for 143 yards.

The crowd of 16,000 saw the game in Crampton Bowl on a warm afternoon under threatening skies. Rain which fell last night and this morning stopped before the kickoff, however, and gave the Rebels a chance to use the passing game on which they depended heavily.

The victory was the 13th for the South in 19 Blue-Gray games here. The Yankees won last year 14-0.

The Southerners drove to the Yankee one but lost the ball on downs early in the final quarter. With seconds remaining, Cox began clicking with his passes and threatened to put the North ahead before Gene Newton of Tulane intercepted one on the Gray five. The Rebels ran out the clock and preserved their one point margin.

The Yankees scored the first time they got the ball and again before the game was five minutes old.

Cox of Minnesota plunged over from the 2 after picking up 41 yards on two consecutive passes to Kansas State halfback Ralph Pfeiffer. The Rebels couldn't move the ball and punted to halfback Barry Maroney of Cincinnati, who ran the kick back 64 yards for the second touchdown. Dick Larson of Minnesota converted after the first score but missed on the second.

The South went 59 yards for a touchdown before the first period ended. Ford tossed a 26-yard scoring pass to Don Maynard of Texas Western.

Vanderbilt's Phil King scored twice for the Grays in the second period, going over from the 2 and again from the 3. Maynard added the three extra points for the South.

A fourth-down gamble set up the Rebels' second score. Ford threw 23 yards to Georgia halfback Jimmy Orr for a first down on the 7.

Benefit Mat Show Slated For Jan. 1

It looks like a noisy New Year in more ways than one for Sedalia mat fans with the big charity wrestling show scheduled for the armory on Jan. 1 featuring a 6 man Tag Team match in which the proceeds will go to the Crippled Children's Center.

The team of Joe Dusek, Rip Hawk, and Tommy O'Toole will try to celebrate the start of the New Year by defeating the team of Ronnie Etchison, Larry Hamilton and Red McIntyre. All six of the men competing have highly rated reputations around the country and all are anxious to start the New Year off right with a win in the Sedalia ring. In addition to the tag match, there will be pairing of the six men in preliminary bouts that should supply a lot of action and thrills for all concerned. In the semi final position on the card, Joe Dusek will be in action against his arch enemy Larry Hamilton in a contest that will be for 2 out of 3 falls or a 45 minute time limit.

The special event pairs off Rip Hawk the Spoiler, who meets Ronnie Etchison, long a favorite of midwestern mat fans and one of the leading championship contenders. This match could steal the show.

In the opening event rougher Tommy O'Toole will trade holds with Otterville's favorite son Red McIntyre. This event will be for one fall with a 20 minute time limit.

The wrestling world of Sport has always been known for its many charitable enterprises and all of the men appearing on this star studded card have willingly offered to give up New Year's Day celebrations with their own families so that the Crippled Children's Center might benefit and have funds for the operation of their great organization. Tickets may be purchased from the sponsors, who are all members of the American Legion Post No. 16 of Sedalia. Also selling tickets will be the Midwest Shoe Repair and the Pacific Cafe.

PANAMA, Dec. 28 (AP)—Hector Lopez, infielder of the Kansas City Athletics who is playing in the Panama Professional League, was booed by the crowd last night after hitting an umpire.

An argument between umpire Ray Moore and Lopez developed after Moore had ejected one of Lopez' teammates from the game. Lopez landed a right on the umpire's chest when Moore met his challenge to throw him out of the game too.

Chief Umpire Dallas Thornton said a report would be made to the office of George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, in Columbus, Ohio.

Bowl Games Will Greet The New Year

By JACK HAND
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
College football greets the new year with an attractive series of bowl games Wednesday that will lure about 380,000 fans into stadia scattered from Pasadena, Calif. to Miami.

The granddaddy of them all, the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, expects 100,000 plus to watch powerful Ohio State (8-1), Western Conference winners, take on underdog Oregon (7-3), co-champs of the shaky Pacific Coast Conference.

Navy (8-1-1) may be making its final post-season appearance when it meets Rice (7-3), the Southwest ruler, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Academy brass has frowned on future bowl games for the Midies. A crowd of 75,507 counts on a quarterback duel between Tom Forrestal of Navy and King Hill, the All-America and No. 1 draft choice of the pros.

Oklahoma (9-1), working on a new winning streak since the old was broken by Notre Dame, plays Duke (6-2-2) in the Orange Bowl at Miami before 76,000 or so.

The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans counts on 32,875 for the All-Southern pairing of Mississippi (8-1-1) and Texas (6-3-1), the second place teams of the Southeastern and southwest conferences.

Three other bowl games will be played without network radio or television coverage. About 15,000 will be on hand for the meeting of Drake (7-1) and Louisville (8-1) in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. Texas Southern (7-3) and Prairie View (6-3) will draw 20,000 into the Prairie View Bowl at Houston. The night game between Mississippi Southern (8-1) and East Texas State (8-1) at the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla. is due to be seen by 13,000 fans.

Network radio-TV coverage will send the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Rose Bowl games into homes across the nation.

CBS will carry the Orange at 12:30 p.m. (CST), followed by the Cotton at approximately 3:15 p.m. (CST). NBC will start with the Sugar from New Orleans at 12:45 p.m. (CST) and follow with the Rose at 3:45 p.m. (CST).

Ohio State has been rated a 19-point favorite over Oregon in the Rose Bowl on its strong ground game and sturdy line anchored by Aurelius Thomas, All - American guard. Halfback Don Clark and fullback Bob White are quarterback Frank Kremblas' most consistent gainers. Beaten only by Texas Christian 18-14 in the season opener, Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes were second to Auburn in the final Associated Press poll. Auburn couldn't go bowling because of an NCAA penalty.

Kegler's Korner Broadway Lanes Host Columbians Today

Broadway Lanes will host the sharp shooting Semmons Furniture team of Columbia in an inter-city bowling match beginning at 1:30 p.m. today at Broadway Lanes. In an earlier encounter, Columbia topped the Sedalians at the Mizou Bowl in Columbia.

Joe Long, Bill Shockey, Bob McCurdy, Johnny Hazel and Red Heerman, all among Sedalia's better bowlers, make up the Broadway Lanes crew. For Columbia, only Bob Wiley, John Scheurer and Glen Nelson are sure starters.

Nelson is a former Sedalian and was Mid-Missouri Champion in 1956. Scheurer and Wiley are past state doubles champions. Admission is free and the public is welcome.

COLUMBIA'S CLAIMS

Bill Clark's column "Down the Alley" in the Columbia Missourian says "Columbians can still beat Sedalians any day of the week." Perhaps, but let's take a second look at a few bowling facts. Jack Vaughan has high game for the season in Sedalia with a 277. If available statistics are correct, this tops Columbia's best single game. For a series score, Gerald Horst fired a sparkling 671 on the Sedalia Lanes for high season mark; again this appears better than Columbia's tops. Friday night the Broadway Lanes team fired a tremendous 3112-pin team series and a 116-pin team game. This should be about 200 pins better than any found in the university town.

Last season, Roseland Meats of Sedalia, with almost the same team Broadway Lanes sponsors this season, whipped Semmons Furniture—Columbia's best—in both meetings. At Columbia, the Sedalians had a 116 pin margin, 4443-4327, and at the Sedalia Lanes the Roseland keggers measured Columbia by 257 pins, 4529-4272, all scores scratch.

From any angles, today's match should be a dandy. The rivalry between the gentlemen bowlers of Sedalia and Columbia is plenty keen.

SEDALIANS SPARKLE

At Raytown in a recent intercity match with the Bamboo Hut, Broadway Lanes scored a 2762-2668 win, a 94 pin margin. The Sedalians jumped off to a 109 pin lead in the first game with a 951 team score, paced by Johnny Hazel's 215 and Bob McCurdy's 202. Raytown took the next two games by margins of 14 and one pin, but the early advantage built-up by Broadway Lanes provided the victory. In a "sugar" game the locals rolled a whopping 1008 for a 197 pin triumph and set a new Raytown record for a scratch game. Last week the Yellowstones of Kansas City bested the locals in a match at the Country Club Bowl, 2647-2639. Broadway Lanes won the first and third games, but the Yellowstones took the match by scoring a 107 pin win in the second game.

1959 STATE MEET

The Sedalia Bowling Association is actively seeking the men's 1959 ABC state bowling tournament—and chances of landing the big meet appear excellent. Although their sentiments regarding the tourney site are not known exactly,

First, Seixas, 34 playing in what he said probably was his last Davis Cup match, outlasted 22-year-old Anderson, holder of the U. S. championship and two Australian state titles, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 0-6, 13-11.

Then MacKay downed Cooper, the Wimbledon and Forest Hills runnerup, 6-4, 1-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Field Goal Gives Vols 3-0 Win Over Texas A & M

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP)—Bobby Gordon ran and passed Tennessee into scoring range and Sammy Burklow kicked a field goal to give the Vols a 3-0 victory over Texas A & M in the Gator Bowl football game today.

Just when the fans had decided the bruising defensive battle would end in a scoreless tie, the brilliant Tennessee tailback took the Vols on a personally conducted march to the A & M 1.

On fourth down, Burklow trotted in and arched his kick between the uprights with 5 1/2 minutes left.

The ball was booted from the seven and had to travel 17 since the goal posts are 10 yards behind the goal line. It was the first field goal Tennessee had attempted all season. Burklow, however, had made good on 15 of 17 conversions attempts during the regular season.

The Tennessee drive started at the 50 and Gordon ran or passed on every play until he got to the 1.

Twice previously the Vols, a slight underdog at kickoff, had stopped at the 14 and 27 by powered deep into Texas Aggie fumbles.

For three quarters, the big A & M line and the light, fast Tennessee forewall kept the powerful backs of the two defensive specialists pretty well corralled except for a long, dazzling punt return by Gordon.

Early in the opening period, Gordon took a kick on his 18 and raced 82 yards into the end zone but the apparent touchdown was wiped out by a clipping penalty at the Aggie 35 which set the Vols back to midfield.

All America halfback John Crow, a plunging, fighting runner, was the Aggies' bread-and-butter man, just as he was all season. But he, Roddy Osborne and Lloyd Taylor simply couldn't crash the swift, agile Vol line consistently.

The deepest Aggie penetrations came in the second quarter when twice A & M reached the Tennessee 35.

Gordon, who gained 60 yards in 32 carries, and Crow, who picked up 46 in 14 runs, were voted their teams' most valuable players in a press box poll.

Tackles Charley Krueger and Ken Beck, center John Gilbert and fullback Dick Gay were Trojans in the Aggie defense which held Tennessee's single wing power plays to 135 yards rushing.

Guards Bill Johnson and Lon Herzbrun, tackle Jim Smelcher and center Dave Stottler were line standouts for a Vol defense which limited the Aggies to 142 ground yards.

The game, played before a record sellout crowd of 43,709, was televised and broadcast nationally by CBS.

The Aggies dominated the first half, outgaining Tennessee 121 yards to 31 on the ground.

The Vols were just as dominating during the second half.

This was the final A & M game for coach Paul Bear Bryant, who goes to Alabama next year. The victory was Tennessee's fourth in a bowl in 11 appearances.

Oklahoma Baptists, Emporia State Win In Ottawa Tournament

OTTAWA, Kan., Dec. 28 (AP)—Oklahoma Baptist edged Rockhurst, 65-63, in overtime and Emporia State defeated Pittsburg State, 78-68, today in the Ottawa Invitational basketball tournament.

Springfield was matched against Ottawa in the finals and William Jewell faced Cape Girardeau for third place tonight.

Bill Rousey's field goal with two seconds left gave Oklahoma Baptist its victory over Rockhurst after the teams finished regulation time deadlocked at 57-57.

Emporia State kept a good lead over Pittsburg most of the way and the outcome seldom was in doubt.

Round Table Wins In Malibu Sequet Stakes

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP)—Favored Round Table completed a brilliant year of racing today with a close but decisive victory in Santa Anita's $28,100 Malibu Sequet Stakes that sent his earnings for the year past the $600,000 mark.

Racing against an inferior field of seven 3-year-olds, Round Table won the 7-furlong sprint by a head over Seaneen. Mystic Eye was third.

The victory was worth $16,550 to Round Table's owner, Travis M. Kerr of Oklahoma City, and brought the colt's 1957 winnings to $60,258.

Only two other horses, Citation and Nashua, won $60,000 or more in a single year of racing.

Georgia Tech Wins Motor City Tourney

DETROIT, Dec. 28 (AP)—Georgia Tech fought back late in the second half and mowed down the University of Detroit 70-66 for the championship of the Motor City Basketball Tournament tonight.

A taller Marquette team smothered Columbia 82-51 in a consolation game for third place in the four-team tournament.

Redlegs Swap Kluszewski For Fondy

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today traded off their famed but ailing slugger, Ted Kluszewski, to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Dee Fondy.

It was an even deal, said Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds, and he added that the Pirates were taking the chance on Kluszewski's condition.

In 1956 Kluszewski came up with an ailing back. That was after he had hit 49 home runs in 1954, 47 in 1955 and 35 in 1956. His ailment has been called a slipped disc but there have been off-and-on statements as to whether he would have an operation for the ailment.

Last season he saw only limited action with George Crowe filling in most of the time at first base. Crowe hit .271 during the last season in 133 games with 31 home runs and 92 runs batted in. He is 34 years old. Kluszewski is 33 and Fondy is 33.

Kluszewski hit .268 in 69 games. He had 6 home runs and 21 runs batted in. Fondy hit .313 for the Pirates in 113 games. He hit 2 home runs and drove in 37 runs.

Fondy like Kluszewski, spent part of last year out with an injury after he was hit with a thrown ball in pre-game practice but finished with a .313 average in 106 games.

The 33-year-old first baseman was obtained by the Pirates from the Chicago Cubs along with Gene Baker last May for first baseman Dale Long and outfielder Lee Walls.

Fondy, also a left-handed hitter, began his baseball career in 1946 in the Brooklyn Dodgers organization. He was purchased by Chicago in 1951.

General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said Fondy did not figure in the Pirates' plans as a regular next season "since he was not the power hitter we needed."

Paul said he believed Kluszewski might be an improved ball player for Pittsburgh "because of the challenge."

Lions Meet Browns Today For Crown

DETROIT, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, who always seem to do things the easy way, and the Detroit Lions, who take the long way around, clash here tomorrow for the world championship of professional football.

About 56,000 spectators will jam into Briggs Stadium. Fans at home can see the game via a nationwide telecast (NBC-TV).

This game will be the fourth this season between these two teams and will climax the most hectic campaign in the history of the National Football League.

The Browns, champions of the Eastern Conference, approach the 1 p.m. kickoff as three-point favorites over the Lions, Cinderella champions of the western half of the 12-team league.

But the role of favorite means little or nothing, especially when these two teams get together. During the 1957 season favored teams have come out on top 31 times while the so-called underdog teams have taken 30 victories. As for the myth about the home field advantage, the home teams hold a 31-30 edge over the visitors.

They're calling Cleveland "the team that Brown rebuilt." Coach Paul Brown began a shakeup in the Brown organization two years ago. Weeding out the older players and making one player deal after another, Brown built a championship team after one sub-par year.

Coming over to the NFL after dominating the All-America conference for years, the Browns started out on top, winning the Eastern Division title on their first try in 1950. They followed with five more division titles before falling off to a 5-7 mark last season.

This season the Browns reclaimed the leadership, piling up a 9-2-1 record and wrapping up the division title with two games remaining on their regular schedule.

The road the Lions took was a tough one. Coach Buddy Parker quit them just 36 hours before their first exhibition game and called them "the worst team I've ever seen in training camp." The club followed with a so-so exhibition season and split even in their first six games of the regular season.

Quarterback Bobby Layne got involved with a drunk driving charge that dragged on for three months before he won an acquittal. Less than 48 hours after he was freed he suffered a broken ankle in the Lions' game against Cleveland.

Up to now the Lions have ridden out every storm. Parker's sudden departure and Wilson's ascension to the head coaching job left no time for a change in the system. Time after time the Lions had to come from behind to snatch victory from almost-certain defeat.

Five Killed In Car-Train Wreck In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 28 (AP)—A shattering car-train collision killed five persons at a crossing within the city today.

No one on the passenger train was injured.

Police identified the dead as: Mrs. Margaret Hentschell, 25, of Houston, the wife of Jerry Hentschell, a Fort Sam Houston soldier.

John Hentschell, 28, of Tomball, Tex., near Houston.

Mrs. Hettie Hentschell, 25, wife of John Hentschell.

John Joost, 56, San Antonio. Injured critically was Leroy Joost, about 35, the medical examiner said.

Jury Hentschell helped in the identification. He was not in the collision.

The train was the Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train, the Texas Special en route from San Antonio to Dallas and St. Louis.

The Tomball couple was killed on impact, Police Sgt. Guy Guckel said. The baby was thrown several feet into a field, where it died while awaiting an ambulance.

School Teacher Gets Part NEW YORK (AP)—A former school teacher makes her Broadway debut this season in a coveted role in the musical comedy "Oh, Captain!"

Jacqueline McKeever, who was born in Catasauqua, Pa., was an elementary music supervisor at Livingston, N. J., until two years ago when she decided upon a stage career.

In "Oh, Captain!", based upon the hit movie "The Captain's Paradise," Miss McKeever plays a solemn English matron. The tune show, due in February, stars Tony Randall and Abbe Lane.

Kansas State Whips Cornhuskers 88 to 57

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—Kansas State's tall and rugged Wildcats laid down a hefty four-man scoring attack to defeat the Nebraska Cornhuskers 88-57 tonight and win a berth in the Big Eight Conference basketball tournament finals Monday with the Kansas Jayhawks.

Bomb Explodes At Disney Show Four Youths Hurt

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A home-made bomb exploded with a blinding flash Friday night in a crowded theater, sending scores of panicked teen-agers fleeing into the lobby of the smoke-filled building.

Four youths suffered minor burns and cuts.

Police said an unknown person tossed the bomb into the theater near the screen. The blast, described as a "blinding orange and red flash," hurled one youth out of his seat and blew the seat cushion 15 feet.

Jerry Brewster, 12, was treated for burns and lacerations on both legs and released.

David Palmer, 15, James Birchfield, 12, and Charles Ray Cox, 11, suffered minor cuts.

The lower floor of the theater was filled to near capacity, mostly with teen-agers and children watching a Walt Disney movie.

Detective Lawrence Glover said officers think the bomb was made from firecrackers. He said officers found pellets resembling gunshot where the bomb apparently landed. He said whoever threw it apparently escaped unseen.

The theater filled with smoke, but there was no fire, and except for the seat, little damage.

Emotional Upset Can Have Effect On Unborn Baby

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—New tests indicate babies can be emotionally scarred by what happens to their mothers during pregnancy.

Pregnant rats made emotionally anxious in the tests produced offspring which were abnormal emotionally. The effects are relatively permanent.

In one surprise, mice born to normal mothers developed emotional changes when reared by foster mothers who had been subjected to emotional stress.

The experiments were described today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by William R. Thompson, psychologist of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

He said some human studies indicate that emotional upsets suffered by a woman can seriously affect the unborn baby. The influence is possibly transmitted by changes in the mother's hormone system.

Thompson devised elaborate tests to measure the effect when pregnant rats were made highly anxious, or subjected to electrical shocks.

While results are not clear-cut, they appear to confirm earlier work Thompson did with smaller numbers of animals.

"They strongly suggest that stress . . . has definite effects on the emotional behavior of the offspring," he said.

Thompson said more research might bring practical applications in child care and mental health.

Unions See Troubles On Employment Front

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor's 1957 corruption troubles are likely to pale before the employment, bargaining and legislative problems looming in 1958.

The era of the easy buck is slipping away, and the labor union leaders know this spells more trouble for them than the skeletons rattled in union closets in the 1957 labor scandals.

Nearly every day brings news of more job layoffs. The economists are predicting 5 to 6 million unemployed by March. Industry gives every sign of stiffening opposition to new wage boosts.

All this spells old-fashioned economic trouble for workers, the kind they haven't seen for a good while.

And organized labor fears that public indication at the labor racketeers disclosures may lead to legislation that could hamstring union efforts to boost wages and shorten working hours in 1958.

The pressure on unions to deliver wage hikes for their members and on employers for purse tightening until 1958 economic troubles blow over probably will end the general labor-management honeymoon the nation has been enjoying during the past few years.

Strikes, at their lowest ebb in 1957 than in any other year since the end of World War II, can be expected to flare far more frequently in the coming year.

Walter Reuther's auto workers union will lead the crusade of labor organizations to the economic wars.

Expiring labor contracts in the auto and aircraft industries appear to be the most likely battleground. But agreements run out also in most of the trucking industry, in rubber, oil, maritime, telephone and other key industries. And John L. Lewis is in a position to reopen coal wage negotiations at any time.

Less than half the major labor contracts expire in 1958. Under most of the nonexpiring ones workers are to get automatic, pre-arranged pay hikes and wage adjustments for any changes in the cost of living. Living costs, however, appear to have leveled off after a 14-month climb.

About three million workers will get these automatic pay raises in 1958. Another three million are covered by contracts expiring in the new year.

Organized labor has made a start to rid its ranks of corrupt union leaders. The cleanup drive culminated at the recent AFL-CIO convention with expulsion of the Teamsters, Laundry and Bakery Workers unions.

But labor is aware much still remains to be disclosed. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Labor-Management Rackets Investigating Committee plans to go right ahead with hearings delving out new phases of corruption.

His committee's yearlong hearings started off in February with trying to get Teamsters boss Dave Beck back from Europe for testimony. He returned, but only to invoke the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions.

McClellan went ahead and produced witnesses and documents linking Beck with sensational misuse of his union's funds. Beck wound up convicted of larceny and awaiting trial for income tax fraud.

A series of unsavory characters such as racketeer Johnny Dio and Benny the Bug brought out further disclosures about the Teamsters and other unions.

James R. Hoffa, taking over the Teamsters union helm from Beck, himself was enmeshed in corruption charges before the McClellan committee. Hoffa was charged in a court case with rigging the Teamsters Convention at Miami in October to put himself in power.

At yearend there were no signs of any labor war brewing between the ousted Teamsters, Bakers and Laundry Workers unions on the one hand and the remaining AFL-CIO unions on the other.

But a blossoming out of the feud and the underlying hard feelings remained a strong possibility.

George Meany, 63-year-old AFL-CIO president, tackled the federation's corruption problems with courage and determination and personally led the fight for ouster of the Teamsters, Laundry and Bakery Unions. This clipped some 1 1/2 million members from the AFL-CIO's 15 million membership.

The year 1957 was one of good wages and few strikes. Most workers received pay raises of about 15 cents an hour.

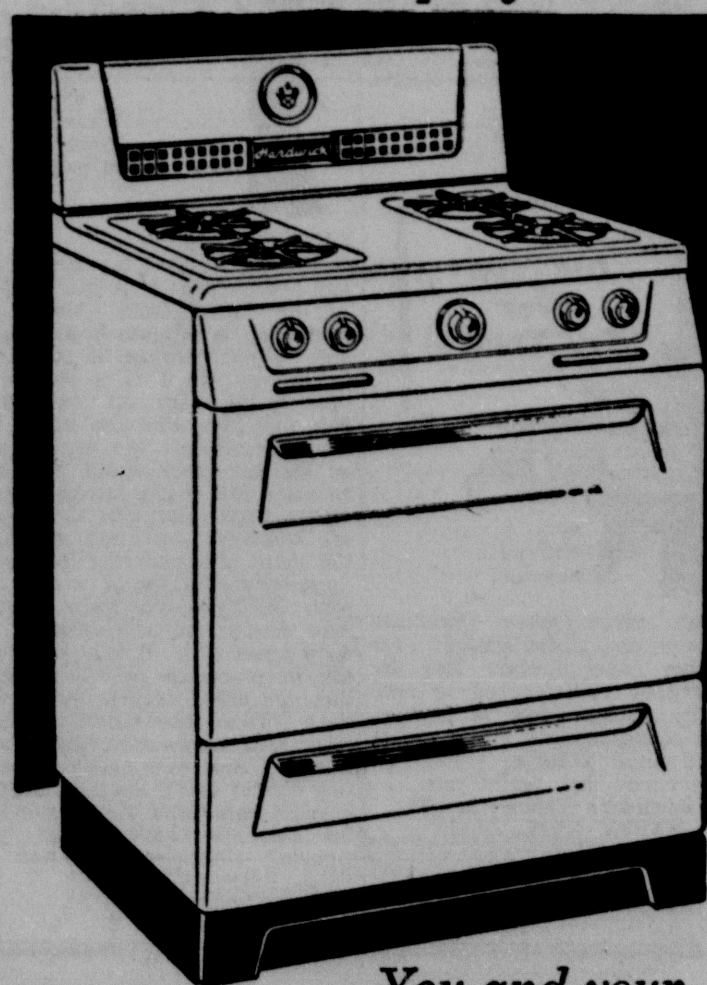

Most of labor's legislative goals in Congress — such as federal aid to education, broader coverage of the minimum wage law, and a pay raise for federal employees — went unrealized.

But on the political front union leaders counted as victories the re-election of Democratic Gov. Robert Meyner in New Jersey and election of Democrat William Proxmire in Wisconsin to succeed the late Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Indiana joined the list of states with right-to-work laws, outlawing the union shop or other forms of compulsory union membership. But labor managed to beat down similar attempts in other states. New drives to enact such laws are shaping up for 1958 in several states, including California, Ohio, Michigan and Kansas.

The first known arctic explorer was Pytheas, a Greek. In about 325 B.C., he seems to have traveled as far north as the Arctic Circle on the coast of Norway. Pytheas took back many true stories which few people believed because they did not agree with Greek ideas about what the world must be like.

'Social Service' Is Mrs. Swope's Program Topic

The Social Service Chapter Night program of the Women of the Moose, arranged by Mrs. Campbell Berry, Social Service chairman, and featuring Mrs. Rudolph Swope, as guest speaker, was held at the Moose Home Tuesday night.

Social service, Mrs. Swope said, means human beings working together for each other. This starts in the family, then the church, then the school and finally, to climax the activity, in the community. This group we find doing a wonderful service here in Sedalia, carrying the Christmas spirit throughout the year in their combined efforts for the handicapped children at the Crippled Children's Center.

The speaker outlined the many services of the Center and mentioned a few, only a few, of the many wonderful things provided by the community, such as the center, an attractive place for the school, providing equipment needed for work and play, and, of course, the many volunteer helpers who exemplify the Bible passage - "Here I am, send me".

In conclusion Mrs. Swope mentioned that the need is always there for material help and the gift of one's time to continue the service to the Sedalia community, which parents of these children say: "This is just too good to be true."

Senior regent, Karen Marcum, presided at the business meeting and directed the initiation of Mrs. Pauline Gardner.

Plans were announced to hold the annual Christmas party and gift exchange on Monday night, Dec. 30. A white elephant game will be a feature of the party. Each member is asked to bring something for the game.

Refreshments were served to 25 members.

Virginia Sue Hendricks Becomes Bride of James E. Steele Sunday

Before an altar set with bouquets of white chrysanthemums and red gladioli and centered with a wreath of spruce Miss Virginia Sue Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hendricks, 1614 West Twentieth, became the bride of James E. Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Steele, 228 South Quincy, at the First Christian Church, December 22. The Rev. H. Purviance performed the double ring ceremony at two o'clock in the afternoon.

As the guests were being seated, Mrs. H. O. Foraker, organist, played a program of music, including "I Love Thee," "Whither Thou Goest," "O Perfect Love" and "Where'er You Walk."

As the candles were lighted she played "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" as the mothers were seated. Miss Sandra Mahnken sang "Through the Years" and "Because." At the close of the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The elongated bodice was closely fitted and shaped to a V at the center front. It was designed with long sleeves and a high neck. Sheer illusion formed the yoke, above which was a necklace effect of lace and small standings of white chrysanthemums and red gladioli. A very full skirt of net ruffles was overlaid with a skirt of tulle trimmed with a wide band of scalloped lace. The bridal and dress was a tulle of shirred tulle outlined with pearls and embroidered with French sequins, from which fell her short flaring illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses surrounding a white orchid on a white ribbon.

Miss Gayle Paige was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress designed with red velvet bodice and white taffeta skirt. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Arlene Hendricks, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Laura Nell Steele, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Hendricks lighted the candles preceding the ceremony. They were dressed identically to the honor attendant and had waist corsages of red and white carnations.

Donald Bartlett served as best man and Larry Hendricks, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Ed Marx and Glen McMullin ushered. The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress complimented with a red rose corsage and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a gray dress. Her corsage was also of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The three-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table, which was covered with a lace cloth.

Mrs. Ed Marx and Mrs. J. T. Woolery served the cake and punch while Mrs. Leonard Kinsey, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip of undisclosed destination and the bride wore a black suit with black accessories, white hat and orchid corsage.

They are now at home at 1411 South Kentucky.

SALE BUYING
Many Christmas gifts were cash and how nice as it is just in time for the "after Xmas" sales, remember a bargain is a bargain only if you can use it and need it. Of course, it is a wonderful time to pick up an extra-good coat that you otherwise might not have. Good suits too are usually on the sale rack about now and an extra suit is like having money in the bank. Bargains in dresses are wonderful too, and although the shops are preparing for spring there is still a lot of winter left with many places to go so several new dresses at a bargain is indeed a real gift. It is a good time too to stock up on the lingerie that you didn't receive for Christmas. There are other excellent buys such as sweaters, skirts and blouses. Your wise shopping scrutiny should carry through in your bargain spree and it is a wonderful time to have things you wouldn't otherwise have had. See us on T. V. Monday 7-45 P.M. Channel 6

RAIN OR SHINE—A huge, 20-million-dollar rolltop-roofed auditorium, shown in architect's drawings above, will be the most spectacular project in Pittsburgh's current redevelopment program. Its dome-shaped roof, left, will be 415 feet in diameter and will be tall enough to house a 10-story building beneath its highest point. In clear, warm weather the top can be rolled back, right, to expose the sky. Seat sections and the 114-foot wide stage will be movable so that varied functions can be held in the auditorium. Seating capacity will run from 7,113 for operas and concerts to 13,640 for boxing, wrestling and conventions. Construction of the "beat the elements" building is expected to get under way in April.

Alberghetti Spurns Offers To Have Her Own TV Shows

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Anna Maria Alberghetti is one performer who doesn't want to have her own television program. She'd rather be a guest.

The attractive, young Italian-born singer says she has turned down five offers to have her own TV series.

"They say a program is 'yours,' she declared, "but it isn't really yours. It's completely out of your hands. It's in the hands of writers and directors and producers. You have no control over the time slot of the program. Maybe your show will appear at the same time as a Western. What happens then? Boom! You're dead."

As things now stand, Miss Alberghetti is very much alive—both on television and in nationwide night club appearances. She has a leading role Feb. 21 in the CBS-TV spectacular "Aladdin" by Cole Porter; she will be seen in the coming weeks on the Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Ed Sullivan shows.

When she made her concert debut in this country at the age of 13, music critics hailed her as a superb classical singer. But today she is as well known as a singer of popular tunes.

Classical or pop, she enjoys both. She does not believe, however, that television's offerings of operatic music—an effort that is made more frequently on the home screen than many people realize—has increased the audience of those who enjoy the classical.

"I think the audience has remained about the same for the past five or six years," she said. "But I do think that many people misjudge American tastes in music. It's much higher than some would have you believe. There isn't much real enthusiasm for rock 'n' roll. In my night club appearances in such places as Las Vegas I've found just as much enthusiasm for classical numbers as for popular."

Miss Alberghetti, now 21, lives in Hollywood with her mother and younger brother and sister. Her father, who died recently, was the only voice teacher she ever had. She enjoys living with her family and says, "I don't feel a girl has to rush out and live alone in order to prove she's independent."

Another pleasure of Miss Alberghetti—who is 5 feet, 5 inches, tall and weighs 104 pounds—is eating.

"What do I like to eat? Anything that's fattening. The trouble is that I eat when I become upset emotionally or bored. After an upsetting day I can eat two cheese cakes all by myself and gain four pounds at a sitting. Then I have to take off the four pounds."

Does she recommend a particular diet for losing weight? "Every doctor in America would shoot me for what I recommend. I recommend starvation—absolute starvation for days until the weight is lost."

"I have options for two more years after this one," he said. "I'd like to do at least one more year in deference to the sponsors. Then I'd like to slow down and let the reruns work for me."

You'll find all kinds of helpful savings advice at our Insured Savings and Loan Association. Plus unusually good returns on the family money, and unsurpassed security—with savings insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government. ## All Out For Shakespeare

NEW YORK (AP)—City Hall is going all out for Shakespeare now. Because of the high public success of a series of free productions by a youthful acting company in Central Park during the summer, officials have turned over to the group an unused theatre for the winter season.

In addition, the park department is planning to develop the Central Park arena at a cost of $150,000 for future shows, has launched a campaign to raise $50,000 by public subscription for running costs.

Melita Day Nursery Has Christmas Party

The Melita Day Nursery Christmas party was held Tuesday afternoon of last week and a special program was presented for the youngsters by the Smith-Cotton Girl Scout Troop 72, in the form of a cantata. Then they sang Christmas carols and asked the youngsters to join in and one of the girls played a piano solo. "Silent Night." They brought each child a gift, too, and there was old Santa Claus.

Mrs. Lucy Rabourn, supervisor gave a gift to each child and the whole party was fun not only for the children but for the parents, friends and several of the board members who also attended.

The Christmas dinner for the children was held on Dec. 24, and there were donations of all kinds from turkey on down. There were 15 firms in town united in contributing to the food and other things for the nursery each taking

Audio TV

DALLAS — Sara Suwal, blind for 20 years, has the smallest television set in town.

For obvious reasons, it has no picture tube. Yet Miss Suwal uses it instead of a radio.

The set is actually a small cabinet about the size of a table model radio, but its dial has numbers for TV channels. Plugged in, it picks up the audio portion of television programs.

The set is built by the American Foundation for the Blind. Miss Suwal is employed by the Texas Commission for the Blind.

Woman Offers to Tell All Facts About Womankind

CHICAGO (AP)—Men, if you want to know why women act the way they do, listen to Susan M. Rogers. She obtained her facts about women during two years of research for three books about women. One due soon is titled "The Fine Art of Supervising Women."

Why are women the $64 question?

"Let's face it," Miss Rogers says, "men are afraid of women. We are the unsolved equation as far as men are concerned. It used to be that a woman was the homebody and the man ran the whole show. Now he asks: 'Please, may I go out with the boys?' The reason is that the matriarchal tendency among women is stronger today."

In her analysis of women, Miss Rogers says the female character revolves around security. This is composed of four parts—mental, emotional, financial and social.

"She may want to be the brainy one because it means security. She may feel insecure in her emotions because of a shaky love life. She may think finance is the key to security. She may be a social climber and believe that unless she is on the social register she is destitute."

"A woman," says Miss Rogers, "is given to fantasy. She identifies herself with everything she sees. It may be a heroine in a play or a wife in trouble in a soap opera. It may be a new hat she saw in a store window or a new chair in a furniture shop."

"She constantly is cramming her mind with experiences, either actually or vicariously received to establish an emotional and mental bank account for use at some future time. She withdraws these valuable nuggets of fantasy like money from a bank as her emotions dictate."

Intuition?

"I am the greatest believer in the world in a woman's intuition. It is absolutely unbelievable," she says.

Another thing that worries men is how to criticize women without a blow-up. How can this be overcome? Says Miss Rogers:

"Go around the back door. Praise her first. Say, 'Why, dearie, how did you do this? It's wonderful!'"

Any more questions, men?
